About

EG MediaTech is a second-edition event dedicated to the media and entertainment technology sectors. The industry show offers the opportunity for key players in the industry to meet and debate the various challenges facing the industry and source the latest equipment and services available to the market.

Egypt has one of the most established and influential media industries in the Middle East and North Africa. Its broadcasting industry has witnessed exponential growth throughout the past decade.

2019 Supporter

NAB Show, the global event for the Media, Entertainment and Technology community will be joining the EG MediaTech show as a supporter and will be showcasing a NAB Show educational track as part of the programme. This will include exciting information on the current state of the broadcasting industry, where it's heading, and will cover both TV and Radio topics including:

- Hybrid TV and streaming
- Digital and internet radio
- New standards
- Networking set-up of broadcasting stations
- IP Broadcasting Infrastructure – Proprietary vs. Standard Based

Sectors:

Broadcasting

Showcasing equipment for every link in the broadcast value chain; from content acquisition to play-out and storage.

Sound and Light

Suppliers of sound, lighting, video and rigging equipment to the rental and production markets for a range of live events and productions.

AV Integration

Suppliers of audio visual, networking, control and other equipment for fixed installations in a wide variety of spaces and sectors.

Film and Video

Professionals who are focused on post-production will find the best hardware and software to cater to their editing, grading, animation and sound mixing needs.

Digital Media and Advertising

Keeping up with the continual convergence between digital media and traditional broadcast, with over-the-top (OTT) and video on demand (VOD) services seemingly set to supplant broadcast as we know it.

Studio / DJ / Music Production

The audiophile sector is stringent about sound quality standards and technologies, and the equipment used by both the DJ sector and professional sound engineers in the studio sector meets high-end specifications.
